

Individual Assistance

Anytime during the year, a child may become or remain at-risk. We also offer individual assistance and it may be requested by anyone; parents, guardians, teachers, neighbors, police officers, firefighters, medical personnel – anyone who can identify a child at-risk and determines that we may be helpful. Particularly, school counselors and in-home clinicians find our process easy to assist their clients who have need. Individual assistance may be requested anytime. We rely on you to help identify children in need and how to best help them. If you say a family needs toothbrushes and soap for three children, we don't need to know who that family is. Our goal is not to know who we are helping but rather that we are helping. In the past, we have funded individual requests for diverse purposes, including shoes, clothing, prosthetic devices, and clothing - alleviating existing needs or those urgent and emergent needs that may arise during the year.
